

The Do Not Call list MUST be kept in tact. Businesses should not have more rights than the people they harass. I would like to see a list of the business people that want this change widely exposed to the public. Then we can contact them ourselves--maybe call them at home--and let them know they're out of line!